Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability;
citations and explanations supporting such statement

Reference is made to the following documents:

D1: US-B1-6 526 506 (LEWIS DANIEL E) 25 February 2003 (2003-02-25)

D2:US 2002/164029 A1 (JIANG SAM SHIAW-SHIANG) 7 November 2002 (2002-11-07)

Closest prior art:

The document D1 is regarded as being the closest prior art to the subject-matter of claim 1, and shows (the references in parentheses applying to this document):

A key synchronisation method for a wireless network (see columns 12 and 13) comprising:

- setting a current encryption key ("ENCRYPT key") at an access point in the wireless network;
- generating a new encryption key ("new ENCRYPT key") at the access point;
- resetting the current encryption key to equal the newly generated encryption key;
- communicating the new encryption key to the station in an encrypted form using the previous encryption key (column 12, lines 45-47);
- the access point determining for each received data frame from the station if it is able to decrypt the data frame using the current encryption key.

Invention:

The subject-matter of claim 1 differs from this known method mainly in that a current encryption key and an old encryption key are maintained at the access point and that a data frame received from a station is either successfully decrypted with the current encryption key or a decryption failure is indicated and the frame is decrypted using the old encryption key.

The subject-matter of claim 1 is therefore new (Article 33(2) PCT).

The problem to be solved by the present invention may be regarded as how to enable the decryption of a received frame at the access point even if the key exchange with the station is not synchronized.

The solution to this problem proposed in claim 1 of the present application is considered as involving an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT) for the reasons that none of the cited documents disclose or suggest to maintain the new and old encryption keys at the access station for the purpose of decryption.

Independent claim 8 relates to a system for performing the method of claim 1. Claim 8 therefore also meets the requirements of Article 33 PCT.

Claims 3-7 and 9- 14 are dependent on claims 1 or 8 and as such also meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to novelty and inventive step.

Remarks:

Claim 8 lacks clarity, due to the use of the wordings "mechanism" and "using" in that claim.

The claims are not numbered consecutively, contrary to Rule 6.1(b) PCT.
